

Leadership Development with a Global Reach

Redefining Help Through Science and Innovation

Since 2010, Goose Creek Consulting has been providing leadership development and teambuilding services across the global. Based in the Washington, D.C. area, we provide coaching, facilitation, leadership development and talent strategy consulting across the United States and have or are delivering services in Europe, Africa and Asia.

We have a deep bench of coaches, facilitators and consultants who have cultural competencies and experience working with public sector, private sector and non-profit organizations across the world. We have team members fluent in several languages and familiar with the unique cultural issues involved in leading global organizations.

Our 2021 work took us to Germany, Senegal, Malawi, Liberia, East Timor and other locations. We provide services both virtually and in person across the world.
